MATERIAL/FABRICATION

The Zeller Sleeper Chair was developed in association with Dr. Scott Zeller, an emergency psychiatrist with almost 40 years’ experience in behavioural healthcare and a leading advocate of EmPATH units: Emergency Psychiatric Assessment, Treatment and Healing programmes.

The Zeller Sleeper Chair features a reinforced internal timber frame, supported by metal cross members, brackets and pivot components, providing strength and stability throughout its reclining and flat-position functions. A concealed operating mechanism and simple push-button control enable smooth, secure transitions between positions while helping to reduce access to moving components.

The seat, backrest and arms are cushioned with CMHR (Combustion Modified High Resilience) foam, offering lasting support, comfort and durability.

Integrated swivel and fixed castors allow the chair to be repositioned when required, with braked castors providing additional stability. Built-in storage options feature durable metal runners, hinges and secure magnetic closures, providing convenient storage without compromising the chair’s safe and considered design.
